NEC Knowledge Management

NEC Knowledge Management, powered by livepro, is feature-rich yet easy to use knowledge management system, delivering answers - not long complex documents to dig through. This makes customer service quicker, easier and more efficient. Employees require next to no training on complex procedures thanks to an intuitive design, which brings confidence up and training costs down. Our system can assist with policies, products, procedures and enquiries no matter how staff or customers pose the question. Thanks to its easy to use powerful search feature and its ability to deliver quick and consistent answers, it's the perfect single source of truth. Knowledge Management can service any channel the customer seeks information, whether it's via phone, email, front counter, website, self-service, live chat or even a modern virtual assistant.

Customers are happier thanks to quick and easy answers to their questions and employees feel self-assured to handle all enquiries. Factors of compliance and risk are minimised thanks to easy-to-follow process guidance and costs are cut through reduced training time, an AHT reduction and elimination of errors. A cloud-based subscription model means you only pay for what you need and easy self-administration lessens the burden on IT.
