

Director, Delivery

D'wayne Mitchell

Biography

About

D'wayne Mitchell leads the delivery of NEC Australia's infrastructure and applications operational services. This broad charter includes responsibility for harnessing and aligning the capabilities of NEC's IT Services, Consulting & Business Solutions, Professional Services, National Shared Services and the Project Management Office.

His role is to help NEC maximise profitability from its business development by ensuring customers gain significant value from the delivery of innovative solutions and professional services that meet and exceed market conditions.

D'wayne has a strong background in the IT services industry and brings extensive management experience to this position. He was most recently NEC's Director, Communications Solutions. Prior to joining NEC Australia, D'wayne was part of the Australian senior leadership group at CSC.

